

I-TEM Announces New Web Site Whitepaper Library

Madison, WI, March 28, 2007/ --The Independent Telecommunication Expense Management Association (I-TEM) today announced a new offering on its web site (www.i-temassociation.org), a library of member-written whitepapers. I-TEM was formed by the CEOs of a group of Telecom Expense Management (TEM) companies from across the U.S. who believe that independence from traditional telecom service providers is a key differentiator when end-user enterprises seek solutions to control, manage, audit and contain telecom expenses.

"I-TEM will use our web sites' whitepaper library to promote membership in the association, to educate end-users about the real advantage of selecting an Independent TEM provider, and to continue to drive awareness of the benefits of TEM in general," said Jim Price, President of ICOMM Consulting, Inc., and founding member of I-TEM.

As of this date, I-TEM members include: ICOMM Consulting of Oak Park, IL; Visicom of Madison, WI; Teligistics of The Woodlands, TX; TSG Enterprises of Memphis, TN; Telytics of Carlsbad, CA; Dietrich Lockard Group of St. Louis, MO and TnT Expense Management of Sandy Hook, CT.

The library of whitepaper's is available online at <http://www.i-temassociation.org/pr.asp>.

The first featured whitepaper is titled "TEMS Agency Fees", written by Michael Bodetti, CEO of TNT Expense Management (www.tntem.com). The tag line of this whitepaper is "Did you hire a "fox" to manage your telecom expenses?"

Price added, "Our membership has decades of experience in telecom expense management, and is comprised of a leading group of thought leaders in TEM space, with special expertise in carrier contracts, wireless services, invoice processing and payment, TEM applications and telecom services lifecycle management. It's this complete range of knowledge that sets our members, and this association, apart.

This library will add to the discussion of how to best source TEM services, what to look for in a TEM provider, and will showcase how Independent TEM companies provide the best and most objective recommendations and services to their customers."

In order to become an I-TEM member, a TEM provider-applicant must go through an application process and make a statement certifying that the prospective member does not receive commissions or fees (directly or indirectly) from any telecom carrier in the performance of its functions relative to its role as a telecom expense management firm.
